The report of the Secretary of the Interior is worthy of grave consideration. It treats of the numerous, important, and diversified branches of domestic administration entrusted to him by law domestic admunistration entrusted to him by law Among these the most prominent are the public lands and our relations with the India is Our system for the disposal of the public lands, originating with the fathers of the republic, has been improved, as experience pointed the way, and gradually adapted to the growth and settlement of our Western States and Territories. It has worked well in practice Already thirteen States and seven Territories have been a rved out of these lands, and still more than a thousand millions of acres remain unsold. What a boundless prospect this presents to our country of future prosperity and power!

By the Mayor of the city of Indianapolis, and duly attested by the corporate seal of said city, I will, on the 2nd day of the city of January, A. D., 1858, between the hours of 10 o'clock, A. prosperity and power!
We have heretofore disposed of 363,862,464 acres of the public land. Whilst the public lands as a source of revenue are of great importance, their importance is far greater as furnishing homes for a hardy and independent race of honest and industriou citizens, who desire to subdue and cultivate the soil. They ought to be administered main ly with a view of promoting this wise and be nevolent policy. In appropriating them for any other purpose, we ought to use even greater economy than if they had been converted into money and the proceeds were already in the public treasury. To squander away this richest and noblest inheritance which any peo-ple have ever enjoyed upon objects of doubtful richest and noblest inheritance which any people have ever enjoyed upon objects of doubtful constitutionality or expediency, would be to violate one of the most important trusts ever committed to any people.

Whilst I do not deny to Congress the power, when acting bona fide as a proprietor, to give away portions of them for the purpose of increasing the value of the remainder, yet, considering the great temptation to abuse this power, we canof the too cautious in its exercise.

Actual settlers under existing laws are protect ed against other purchasers at the public sales, in their right of pro-emption, to the extent of a quarter-section, or 160 acres of land. The remainder may then be disposed of at public, or entered at private, sale in unlimited quantities. Speculation has of late years prevailed to a great extent in the public lands. The consequence has been that large pottions of them have become the property of individuals and companies, and thus the price is greatly enhanced to those who desire to purchase for actual settlement. In order to limit the area of speculation as much as possible, the extinction of the Indian title and the extension of the public surveys ought only to keep pace with the tide of emigration. ed against other purchasers at the public sales, in lie surveys ought only to keep pace with the tide of emigration.

If Congress should hereafter grant alternate sections to States or companies, as they have done heretofore, I recommend that the intermediate sections retained by the government should be subject to preemption by actual settlers.

It oughtevers to be our cardinal policy to reverve the public lands as much as may be for actual settlers, and this at incderate prices. We shall thus not only best promote the prosperity of the new States and Territories, and the power of the Union, but shall seoure homes for our posterity for many generations.

The extension of our limits has brought within our interactions, and afficult to control. Pedatory and warlike in their disposition and habits, it is impossible altogether to restrain them from committing aggressions on each other as well as upon our frontier citizens and those emigrating to our distant States and Perritories. Hence expensive military expeditions are frequently necessary to overawe and chastige the more lawless and bostile.

The present system of making them valuable presents to influence them to remain at peace has preved ineffectual. It is believed to be the better policy to colonize them in suitable localities, where, they can receive the rudiments of calcation and be gradually induced to adopt habits of industry. So tar as the expensive the industry So tar as the experience of indians within our teritor and will doubless prove to be less expensive than the precent system.

The whole mumber of Indians within our teritor and will doubles prove to be less expensive than the precent system.

The whole make a difficult to control. Pedatory and ward the present system of making them valuable presents to influence them to remain at peace has preved ineffectual. It is believed to be the better policy to colonize them in suitable localities, where, they can be a difficult to a prevent system.

The whole and Richard Medical Relimbary of the new of the lunion, but shall be held at the Company's for th perment as been tried it has worked weit in practice and will doubtless prove to be less expensive than the present system.

The whole number of Indians within our territorial limits is believed to be, from the best data in the interior department, about 325,000.

The tribes of Cherokees, Choctaws, Chickasaws and Creeks settled in the ferritory set apart for them west of Arkansas, are rapidly advancing in education and all the arts of civilization and self government; and we may indulge the agreeable anticipation that at no very distant day they will be incorporated into the Union as one of the sovereign States.

It will be seen from the report of the Postmaster General that the Post Office Department still continues to depend on the Treasury as it has been compelled to do for several years past, for an important portion of the means of sustaining and extending its operations. Their rapid growth and expansion are shown by a decennivi statement of the number of post offices, and the length of post-roads, commencing with the year 1827. In that year there were 7,000 post-offices; in 1837, 11,177; in 1847, 15,146; in 1837 they number 26,586. In this year 1,725 post-offices have been established and 704 discontinued, leaving a net increase of 1,021. The postmasters of 88 offices are appointed by the President.

1837 they number 26,586 In this year 1,725 post-offices have been established and 704 discontinued, leaving a net increase of 1,021. The postmasters of 388 offices are appointed by the President.

The length of pot roads in 1827 was 105,336 miles; in 1837, 141,242 miles; in 1847, 153,818 miles; and in the year 1857, there are 242 601 miles of post road, including 22,530 miles of railroad, on which the mails are transported.

The expenditures of the department for the fiscal year ending on the 30th June. 1857, as adjusted by the Anditor, amounted to $11,597,670. To defray these expenditures, there was to the credit of the department on the 1st July, 1855, the sum of $789,599 the gross revenue of the year, including the annual allowances for the transportation of free mail matter, produced $3,053,591; and the remainder was supplied by the appropriation from the trea-ury of $2,250,000, granted by the act of Congress approved August 18, 1856, and by the appropriation of $666,883 made by the act of March 3, 1857, leaving $252,703 to be carried to the credit of the department in the accounts of the current year. I commend to your consideration the report of the department in relation to the establishment of the overland mail route from the Mississippi river to 8an Francisco, California. The route was selected with my full concurrence, as the one, in my judgment, best calculated to attain the important objects contemplated by Congress.

The late disastrous monetary revulsion may have one good effect should it cause both the government and the people to return to the practice of a wise and judicious economy both in public and private expenditures.

vigilance, and in performing this duty I pledge my co-operation to the extent of my constitutional competency

It ought to be observed at the same time that the public economy does not consist in withholding the means necessary to accomplish important national objects intrusted to us by the constitution, and especially such as may be necessary for the common detence. In the present crisis of the country it is our dante to confine our appropriations to objects of this divides.

FEED STORE. It ought to be observed at the same time that true cisily such as may be neces ary for the common defence. In the present crisis of the country it is our duty to confine our appropriations to objects of this character, unless in cases where justice to individuals may demand a different course. In all cases care ought to be taken that the money granted by Congress shall be faitfully and economically applied.

Under the federal constitution, "every bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate shall, before it becomes a law," be approved and signed by the President; and, if not approved and signed by the President; and, if not approved, "he shall return it with his objections to that House in which it originated." In order to perform this bigh and responsible duty, sufficient time must be allowed the President to read and examine every bill presented to him for approval. Unless this be afforded, the constitution becomes a dead letter in this particular; and even worse, it becomes a means of deception. Our constituents, seeing the President's approval and signature strached to each act of Congress, are induced to believe that he has actually performed this duty, when, in truth, nothing is, in many cases, more unfounded.

From the practice of Congress, such an examination of each bill as the constitution requires, has been rendered impossible. The most important business of each session is generally crowded into its last bours, and the alternative presented to the President is either to violate the constitutional duty which he owes to the people, and approve bills which, for want of time, it is impossible he should have examined, or, by

of each session is generally growded fatours law hours, and the alternative presented to the Precident is either to violate the constitutional duty which he owes to the people, and approve bills which, for want of time, it is inspossible he should have examined, or, by his refusal to do this, subject the country and individuals to great loss and inconvenience.

Besides, a practice has grown up of late years to legislate in appropriation bills, at the last hours of the session, on new and important subjects. This practice constrains the Precident either to suffer measures to become laws which he does not approve, or to incur the rick of stopping the wheels of government by vetoing an appropriation bill. For merly, such bills were confined to specific appropriations for earying into effect existing laws and the well established policy of the country, and little time was then that I shall approve no bill which I have not examined, and it will be a case of extreme and most urgent necessity which shall ever induce me to depart from this rule. I therefore respectfully, but earnestly, recommend that the two louses would allow the Precident at least two days previous to the adjournment of each session within which no new bill shall be presented to him for approval. Under the existing joint rule one day is allowed; but this rule has been hitherfo so constantly suspended in practice, that important bills continue to be presented to him approval bills continue to be presented to him up till the very last moments of the session. In a large majority of cases no great public inconvenience with this continue to be presented to him approvant bills continue to be presented to him approvant bills continue to the precise with the providence, because the constitution line declarated that it has been hitherfored in the free to examine and inconvenience would only be experienced in regard to appropriation bills; but fortunately under the late excell-ut law allowing a salary instead of a per diem, to members of Congress, the expense

An overflowing treasury has led to habits of prodigality and extravagance in our legislation. It has induced Congress to make large appropriations to objects for which they never would have provided had it been necessary to raise the amount of revenue required to meet them by increased taxation or by loans. We are now compelled to pause in our career and to scrutinize our expenditures with the utmost vigilance, and in performing this duty I pledge my

-OF THE-

THE JOURNAL IS NOW ENTERING ITS THIRTY-SEVENTH VOLUME. It was established in 1822, and is the oldest paper in Indiana. It is equal in age to the City of Indianapolis, and is nearly as old as our State Government. It was established when Indiana was little else than a wilderness, and when Indianapolis scarcely existed except in name. It has lived and grown upon its own merits-seldom receiving official patronage or gov ernmental favors. Its name is as a "ho word" throughout the length and breadth of the State, and its position upon all public matters-political or otherwise--is so well known that anything is Latural, bright and said in reference to its course upon any of the ques tions now before the people would be superfluous. While the JOURNAL will continue to advocate the great principles of freedom, and give its support to tritious preparation, free from corrosive ingredients the Republican Party, as the party of the peopleacting with the party when right, and repudiating it when wrong -it will be for the coming year more of a family paper than it has ever yet been, and be made more acceptable to the general reader than a purely polit cal paper could be

The Session of Congress under a new Administra tion is always fraught with more or less importance to the welfare of the country, and the present Session will be looked upon with feelings of peculiar interest. The position of the Administration upon Kansas affairs is a matter of much public concern. The Utah question, and the progress of the anticipated war in that quarter, will be a subject of great public interest as long as it remains unsettled .-Events are transpiring in our own country and throughout the world to make a newspaper indispensable to every individual.

Bounteous crops have blessed the husbandman throughout the land; peace, plenty, and prosperity smile upon all, and we appear before the public, asking for its support, feeling that we shall receive it liberally. Public Sale.

THE unexpired lease of the PALMER HOUSE, A situate on the corner of Washington and Illinois streets, Indianapolis, together with all the furniture, will be sold at Public Auction, on the premises, on the first day of January, 1888.

The Palmer House is one of the most capacious Hotels in the State of Indiana; furnished in elegant style, and sustains a reputation unsurpassed by any other House in the State. It has near one hundred rooms, and occupies the most eligible point in the cit, for the Hotel business. The lease has eight years to run from the day of sale, and only sixteen hundred dollars a year for the entire term is required to be paid to the owner of the House; the rent of the basement and one room on the first floor pays this sum.—The terms of the sale will be made easy and reasonable, so that persons competent in the Hotel business, and not possessed of large means, may purchase with safety and assurance that they can meet the payments out of the profits of the House. EXTRA.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Citizens of the Senate and House of Representatives:

In obedience to the command of the constitu ion, it has now become my duty "to give to Congress information of the state of the Union and renommend to their consideration such

But first, and above all, our thanks are due to Almighty God for the numerous benefits which He has bestowed upon this people; and or united prayers ought to ascend to Him that He would continue to bless our great Republic in time to come as he has blessed it in time past. Since the adjournment of the last Conrress our cou-tituents have enjoyed an unusual legree of health. The earth has yielded he fruits abundantly, and has bountifully rewarded he toil of the husband man. Our great staples have commanded high prices, and, till within a brief period our manufacturing, mineral, and mechanical occupations have largely partaken of the general prosperity. We have possessed all the elements of material wealth in rich sbandance, and yet, not sith standing all these advantages, our country, in its monetary interests, is at the present moment in a deplorable condition. In the midst of unsurpassed plenty in all the productions of agriculture and in all the elements of national wealth, we find our manufactures suspended, our public works rearded, our private enterprises of different kinds abandoned, and thousands of useful la borers thrown out of employment and reduced to want. The revenue of the government. which is chiefly derived from duties on im ports from abroad, has been greatly reduced, whilst the appropriations made by Congress at its last session for the current fiscal year are very large in amount.

Under these circumstances a loan may be required before the close of your present session; it this, although deeply to be regretted, would prove to be only a slight misfortune when compared with the suffering and distress prevailing among the people. With this the government cannot fail deeply to sympathize, may be without the power to extend relief.

It is our duty to inquire what has produced such unfortunate results, and whether their recurrence can be prevented? In all former revul sions the blame might have been fairly attributed to a variety of co operating causes; but not upon the present occasion. It is apparent that our existing misfortunes have proceeded solely from our extravagant and victous system of paper currency and bank credits, exciting the people to wild speculations and gambling in stocks. These revulsions must continue to recur at successive intervals so long as the amount of the paper currency and bank loans and discounts of the country shall be left to the discretion of fourteen hundred irresponsible banking institutions, which from the very law of their nature will consult the interest of their stockholders rather than the public welfare.

The framers of the constitution, when theygave to Congress the power "to coin money and to regulate the value thereot," and prohibited the States from coining money, emitting bills of credit, or making anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts, supposed they had protected the people against the evils of an excessive and irredeemable paper curren They are not responsible for the existing anomaly, that a government endowed with the sovereign attribute of coinin, money and regu-lating the value thereof, should have no power to prevent others from driving this coin out of the country and filling up the channels of circulation with paper which does not represent gold or silver.

It is one of the highest and most responsible duties of the government to insure to the people a sound circulating medium, the amount of which ought to be adapted with the utmost pos-Tible wisdom and skill to the wants of internal trade and foreign exchanges. If this be either greatly above or greatly below the proper standard, the marketable value of every man's pro-perty is increased or diminished in the same proportion, and injustice to individuals as well as incalculable evils to the community are the

Unfortunately, under the construction of the federal constitution which has now prevailed too long to be changed, this important and delicate duty has been dissevered from the coining power and virtually transferred to more than four teen hundred State banks, acting independent of each other, and regulating their paper issues almost exclusively by a regard to the present interest of their stockholders. Exercising the sovereign power of providing a paper currency. of coin, for the country, the first duty which these banks owe to the public is to keep it their vaults a sufficient amount of gold and sil ver to insure the convertibility of their notes into coin at all times and under all circumstances. No bank ought ever to be chartered without such restrictions on its business as to secure this result. All other restrictions are comparatively vain. This is the only true touch etone, the only efficient regulator of a paper currency-the only one which can guard the public against over-issues and bank suspensions. As a colleteral and eventual security, it i doubtless wise, and in all cases ought to be re quired, that banks shall hold an amount of United States or State securities equal to their notes in circulation and pledged for their redemption. This, however, furnishes no adequate security against over-issues. On the con trary, it may be perverted to inflate the currency. Indeed, it is possible by this means to convert all the debts of the United States and State governments into bank notes, without reference to the specie required to redeem them. However valuable these securities may be themselves, they cannot be converted into gold and silver at the moment of pressure. our experience teaches, in sufficient time to prevent bank suspensions, and the which is to a considerable extent a paper money country, though vastly behind our own in thi respect, it was deemed advisable, anterior to the Parliament of 1844, which wisely separated the issue of notes from the banking department, for the Bank of England always to keep on hand gold and silver equal to onethird of its combined circulation and deposites. If this proportion was no more than sufficient to secure the convertibility of its notes, with the whole of Great Britain, and to some extent the continent of Europe, as a field for its circulation, rendering it almost impossible that a sud den and immediate run to a dangerous amount should be made upon it, the same proportion would certainly be insufficient under our bank ing system. Each of our fourteen hundred hanks has but a lunited circumference for its circulation, and in the course of a very few days the depositors and note-holders might demand

In a recent report made by the Treasury lo on the condition of the banks and people of the condition throughout the different States, according to returns dated nearest to January, 1857, the aggregate amount of actual specie in their vaults is $58,349,838, of their actual circulation $214,-778,882, and of their deposites, $230,351,352. Thus it appears that these banks in the aggregate have considerably less than one dollar in seven of gold and silver compared with their circulation and deposits. It was palpable, there fore, that the very first pressure must drive them to suspension, and deprive the people of a convertible currency with all its disastrous ences. It is truly wonderful that they should have so long continued to preserve their credit, when a demand for the payment of one seventh of their immediate liabilities ould have driven them into insolvency. And this is the condition of the banks, notwith standing that four hundred millions of gold from California have flowed in upon us with in the last eight years, and the tide still continues to flow. Indeed, such has been the extravagance of bank credits that the banks now considerably less amount of specie, sigher in proportion to their capital or to ulation and deposits combined than they did before the discovery of gold in California. Whilst in the year 1848 their specie in proportion to their capital was more than equal to one dollar for four and a half, in 1857 it does not amount to one dollar for every, six dollars, and thirty-three cents of their capital. In the year 1848 the specie was

from such a bank sufficient amount in specie to

compel it to suspend, even although it had coin in its vaults equal to one third of its immediate abilities. And yet I am not aware, with the

that any

equal within a very small fraction to one dollar treaty had been considered susceptible of such a in five of their circulation and deposits; in 1857 construction, it never would have been negotiated in the negotiated under the authority of the President, nor would in their circulation and deposits.

From this statement it is easy to account for our financial bistory for the last torty years. It has been a history of extravagant expansions in the busin, as of the country, followed by ruinous contractions. At successive intervals the best and most enterprising men have been tampted to their this sacrifice was that Great Britain should, in this respect at least, be placed in the same positive property of the consideration for t most enterprising men have been tempted to their ruin by excessive bank loans of mere paper credit, exciting them to extravagant importations of foreign goods, with speculations, and ruinous and demoralizing stock gambling. When the crisis arrives, as arrive it must, the banks can extend no relief to the people. In a vain struggle to redeem their liabilities in specie: they are compelled to contract their loans and their issues; and at last, in the hour of distress, when their assistance is most needed, they and their debtors together sink into insolvency.

It is this paper system of extravagant expansion, raising the nominal price of every article beyond its real value, when compared with the cost of similar articles in countries whose circulation is wisely regulated, which has pre- its original or amended form, would have acvented us from competing in our own markets somplished the object intended without giving with foreign manufactures, has produced extravagant importations, and has counteracted between the two governments, may perhaps be ffect of the large incidental protection af well questioned. forded to our domestic manufactures by the rendered much less objectionable by the difference revenue tariff. But for this the branches of our manufactures composed of raw materials, the production of our own country 12th March, 1857, and was transmitted to Lon -such as cotten, iron and woollen fabrics- don for ratification by the British Government. would not only acquired almost exclusive possession of the home market, but would have concur in all the amendments made by the created for themselves a foreign market Senate with the single exception of the clause such violent expansions and contractions of paper credits without lasting injury; yet the Majesty and the Republic of Honduras, constituted and declared a free territory, under the lation, and the spirit which never quaits before difficulties, will enable us soon to recover stipulated that the two contracting parties do from our present financial embarrassment, and hereby mutually engage to recognize and remay even occasion us speedily to forget the spect in all future time the independence and lesson which they have taught.

In the meantime it is the duty of the government by all the proper means within its power, to itd in alleviating the sufferings of the people occasioned by the suspension of the banks, and to provide against a rocurrence of the same calamity. Unfortunately in either aspect of the case, it can do but little. Thanks to the independent treasury, the government has not suspendent pyment, as it was compelled to do by the failure of the banks in 1837. It will continue to discharg its fiabilities to the people in gold and silver. Its disbursements in coin will pass into circulation, and materially assist in restorms a selves. It deprived the government of Hendur's sound currency From its high credit, should we be compelled to make a temporary loan, it can be effected on advantageous terms. This however, shall, if possible, be avoided; but if not, then the amount shall be limited to the lowest practicable sum.

Our relations with foreign governments are, upon the whole, in a satisfactory condition.

Since the origin of the government we have been employed in negotiating treaties with that power, and afterwards in discussing their true intent and meaning. In this respect, the convention of April 19, 1850, commonly called the Claylwer Treaty, has been the most un fortunate of all: because the two governments pl ce directly opposite and contradictory con-structions upon its first and most important arti-cle. Whilst, in the United States, we believe that this treaty would place both powers upon an exact equality by the slipulation that neither will ever "occupy, or fortify, or colonize, or assume o exercise any dominion" over any part of Central America, it is contended by the British govern-ment that the true construction of this language has left them in the rightful possession of all that portion of Central America which was in their occupancy at the date of the treaty; in fact that the trenty is a virtual recognition on the part of and arrangements have been founded, except the United States of the right of Great Britain, with France; and let us hope that this exception either as owner or protector, to the whole extenfrom the Rio Hondo to the port and harbor of San Juan de Nicaragua, together with the adjocent Bay Islands, except the comparatively small portion of this between the Sarstoon and Cape Honduras. Upon an examination of this convention between Great Brit an and Honduras of the 27th of August, 1856, it was found that, whilst declaring the Bay Islands to be a five territory under the sovereignty of the republic of Hondura.," it deprived that republic of rights without which its sov reignty over them could scarcely be said to exist. It is, perhaps, fortunate that the question has never arisen.

The British government, immediately after rejecting the treaty as smended, proposed to enter into a new treaty with the United States, similar in all respects to the treaty which they had just refused to ratify, if the United State unqualified recognition of the sovereignty of conditional stipulation: "Whenever and so soon as the republic of Honduras shall have

The convention alter an angry and excited decate, finally determined, by a majority of only two, to submit the question of slavery to the people, though at the last forty-three of the fifty delegates present affixed their signatures to the constitution.

A large majority of the convintion were in favor of establishing slavery in Kansas. They accordingly inserted an article in this constitution for this purpose similar in form to those which had been acopted by other territorial conventions. In the schedule, however, providing for the transition from a territorial to a State government, the question has been fairly and explicitly referred to the people, whether they will have a constitution "with or without slaved," It declares that, before the constitution adopted by the convention "shall be sent to Congress for admission into the Union as a State," an election shall be held to decide this question, at which all the white male inhabitants of the territory above the age of 21 are entitled to vote. They are to vote by ballots and "the ballots cast at said election shall be endorsed constitution with slavery," it is there be a majority in favor of the "constitution with slavery," then it is to be transmitted to Congress by the president of the convention in its original form. If, on the contrary, there shall be a majority in favor of the 'constitution with no slavery," then the article providing for slavery shall be stricken from the constitution by the president of this convention; and it is expressly declared that 'no slavery shall exist in the State of Kansas, except that the right of property in slaves now in the Territory shall in no manter be interfered with;" and in that event it is made his duty to have the c

Chicago July 25, 1855 Chicago, July 25, 1855

Dr. Cavanaugh:—Dear Sir.—I wish hereby ta make known to the afficired that I have been troubled with the Pi'es for twenty years and upwards, and artimes most severely. And during a recent and exhedingly painful witted a friend procured a lox of your Salve, and asked me to give it a trial. I hid no your Salve, and asked me to give it a trial. I ood; and really it is incredible to myself, that wit aly about two weeks' use of your Salve, I am so ras I car judge a well man. I must cace fally make this statement, believing due both to yourself and such as may be affi good with this most painf I and trying disease. I do no estate to say that I consider your preparation and avaluable remedy for the Piles.

Most sincerely yours, N. N. HEALD. The H in Richard Yates, late member of Congress from the Springfield Itt. district, says;

IMPORTANT FROM MEXICO. Distracted Condition of the Republic - A Revolution in Favor of Santa Anna-Probable

It was mentioned, a few days ago, that the steamship Tennessee had arrived at New Orleans with twenty three political exiles from Mexico and that the country was on the verge of a violent revolution. It appears that the extraordinary powers heretofore published had been granted to the President. They do not differ esser tially from those already before our readers. They give him the right to negotiate a loan of $5,000. 000, to dispise of the national militia to the number of twenty thousand men, and to exercise such other dictorial powers as the peace of the country may require. The dictatorship is to continue from the 3d inst.-date of the extraordnary powers-to the 30th of April next.

These measures, however, seem to have, had little effect, and a serious revolution was impending. A correspondent of the Picayone writes from Vern Cruz, under date of November and House of Representatives: In obedience to the command of the constitu tion, it has now become my duty "to give to Congress information of the state of the Union and renommend to their con-ideration such mestures" as I judge to be "necessary and ex pedient.

But first, and above all, our thanks are du to Almighty God for the numerous benefits which He has bestowed upon this people; and our united prayers ought to ascend to Him that He would continue to bless our great Republic in time to come as he has blessed it in time past. Since the adjournment of the last Congress our con-tituents have enjoyed an unusual gree of health. The earth has yielded her fruits abundantly, and has bountifully rewarded the toil of the husbandman. Our great staples have commanded high prices, and, till within a brief period our manufacturing, mineral, and mechanical occupations have largely partaken of the general prosperity. We have possessed all the elements of material wealth in rich abundance; and yet, not sithstanding all these advantages, our country, in its monetary interests, is at the present monent in a deplorable condition. In the midst it unsurpassed plenty in all the productions of agriculture and in al the elements of nationa wealth, we find our manufactures suspended, our public works retarded, our private enterprises of different kinds abandoned, and thousands of useful la borers thrown out of employment and reduced to want. The revenue of the government, which is chiefly derived from duties on im ports from abroad, has been greatly reduced, whilst the appropriations made by Congress at its last session for the current fiscal year are very large in amount. Under these circumstances a loan may be re quired before the close of your present session; but this, although deeply to be regretted, would prove to be only a slight misfortune when compared with the suffering and distress prevailing among the people. With this the governmen cannot fail deeply to sympathize, though it may be without the power to extend relief. It is our duty to inquire what has produced such unfortunate results, and whether their re currence can be prevented? In all former revul sions the blame might have been fairly attributed to a variety of co operating 'causes; but not so upon the present occasion. It is apparent that our existing misfortunes have proceeded solely from our extravagant and vicious system of paper currency and bank credits, exciting the people to wild speculations and gambling in stocks. These revulsions must continue to recur at successive intervals so long as the amount of the paper currency and bank loans and discounts of the country shall be left to the liscretion of fourteen hundred irresponsible banking institutions, which from the very law of their nature will consult the interest of their stockholders rather than the public welfare. The framers of the constitution, when they rave to Congress the power "to coin money and o regulate the value thereof," and prohibited the States from coining money, emitting bills o credit, or making anything but gold and silver coin a tonder in payment of debts, supposed they had protected the people against the evils of an excessive and irredeemable paper curren They are not responsible for the existing anomaly, that a government endowed with the sovereign attribute of coining money and regulating the value thereof, should have no power to prevent others from driving this com out of the country and filling up the channels of circulation with paper which does not represent gold or silver.

It is one of the highest and most responsible duties of the government to insure to the people a sound circulating medium, the amount of which ought to be adapted with the utmost postible wisdom and skill to the wants of internal trade and foreign exchanges. If this be cither greatly above or greatly below the proper standard, the marketable value of every man's property is increased or diminished in the same ortion, and injustice to individuals as well as incalculable evils to the community are the

Unfortunately, under the construction of the federal constitution which has now prevailed too long to be changed, this important and delicate duty has been dissevered from the coining pow er and virtually transferred to more than teen hundred State banks, acting independent of each other, and regulating their paper issues almost exclusively by a regard to the present interest of their stockholders. Exercising the sovereign power of providing a paper currency, instead of coin, for the country, the first duty which these banks owe to the public is to keep in their vaults a sufficient amount of gold and silver to insure 'the convertibility of their note. into coin at all times and under all circum stances. No bank ought ever to be chartered othout such restrictions on its business as to secure this result. All other restrictions are comparatively vain. This is the only true touch stone, the only efficient regulator of a pape currency—the only one which can guard public against over-issues and bank suspensions As a colleteral and eventual security, it i doubtless wise, and in all cases ought to be reduired, that banks shall hold an amount of United States or State securities equal to their notes in circulation and pledged for their redeinption. This, however, furnishes no adequate security against over-issues. On the con trary, it may be perverted to inflate the currency. Indeed, it is possible by this means to convert all the debts of the United States and

State governments into bank notes, without re ference to the specie required to redeem them However valuable these securities may be in themselves, they cannot be converted into gold and silver at the moment of pressure. as our experience teaches, in sufficient time prevent bank suspensions, and depreciation of bank notes. In England, which is to a considerable extent a paper mone country, though vastly behind our own in this respect, it was deemed advisable, anterior to the act of Parliament of 1844, which wisely separated the issue of notes from the banking department, for the Bank of England always to keep on hand gold and silver equal to onethird of its combined circulation and deposites. If this proportion was no more than sufficient to secure the convertibility of its notes, with the whole of Great Britain, and to some extent the continent of Europe, as a field for its circulation, rendering it almost impossible that a sudden and immediate run to a dangerous amount should be made upon it, the same proportion would certainly be insufficient under our banking system. Each of our fourteen hundred hanks has but a lunited circumference for its the depositors and note-holders might demand

compel it to suspend, even although it had coin in its vaults equal to one third of its immediate

Two Too is any that any

In a recent report made by the Treasury De partment on the condition of the banks throughout the different States, according aggregate amount of actual specie in their vaults s $58,349,838, of their actual circulation $214,-778,882, and of their deposites, $230,351,352. Thus it appears that these banks in the aggregate have considerably less than one dollar in seven of gold and silver compared with their circulation and deposits: It was palpable, there fore, that the very first pressure must drive them to suspension, and deprive the people of a convertible currency with all its disastrous consequences. It is truly wonderful that they should have so long continued to preserve their credit, when a demand for the payment of one seventh of their immediate liabilities would have driven them into insolvency. And this is the condition of the banks, notwithstanding that four hundred millions of gold from California have flowed in upon us with in the last eight years, and the tide still continges to flow. Indeed, such has been the ex travagance of bank credits that the banks now hold a considerably less amount of specie, either in proportion to their capital of to their circulation and deposits combined than they did before the discovery of gold in California. Whilst in the year 1848 their specia in proportion to their capital was more than equal to one dollar for four and a half.

in five of their circulation and deposits; in 1857 construction, it never would have been negotiated in five of their circulation and deposits; in 1857 construction, it never would have been negotiated under the authority of the President, nor would in the circulation of the president of the pr it is not equal to one dollar in seven and a half of their circulation and deposits From this statement it is easy to account for our financial history for the last forty years. It has been a history of extravagant expansions in the busin ss of the country, followed by ruinous contractions. At successive intervals the best and most enterprising men have been tempted to their ruin by excessive bank loans of mere paper credit. exciting them to extravagant importations of foreign goods, with speculations, and ruinous and demoralizing stock gambling. When the crisis arrives, as arrive it must, the banks can extend no relief to the people. In a vain struggle to red can their liabilities in specie: they are compelled to contract their loans and their issues; and at last, in the hour of distress, when their assistance nost needed, they and their debtors together sink into maolvency

It is this paper system of extravagant expansion, raising the nominal price of every article far beyond its real value, when compared with the cost of similar articles in countries whose of December. Whether this treaty, either in circulation is wisely regulated, which has pre- its original or amended form, would have acvented us from competing in our own markets complished the object intended without giving with foreign manufactures, has produced extravagant importations, and has counteracted between the two governments, may perhaps to the effect of the large incidental protection af | well questioned. Certain it is, however, it was forded to our domestic manufactures by the rendered much less objectionable by the differpresent revenue tariff. But for this the bran- ent amendments made to it by the Senate. The ches of our manufactures composed of raw tre ty, as smeaded, was ratified by me on the materials, the production of our own country 12th March, 1857, and was transmitted to Lon -such as cotten, iron and woollen fabricswould not only acquired almost exclusive pos- That Government expressed its willingness to session of the home market, but would have concur in all the amendments made by the created for themselves a foreign market throughout the world.

Deplorable, however, as may be our present inancial condition, we may vet indulge in treaty, as submitted to the Senate, after reciting bright hopes for the future. No other nation has ever existed which could have endured ing been by a convention bearing date the 27th such violent expansions and contractions of paper credits without lasting injury; yet the Majesty and the Republic of Honduras, consti moyancy of youth, the energies of our population, and the spirit which never quails before difficulties, will enable us soon to recover from our present financial embarrassment, and may even occasion us speedily to forget the esson which they have taught. In the meantime it is the duty of the government by all the proper theans within its power, to id in alleviating the sufferings of the people occasioned by the suspension of the banks, and to provide against a recurrence of the same calami ty. Unfortunately in either aspect of the case, it can do but little. Thanks to the independent treasury, the government has not suspendend p yment, as it was compelled to do by the failure of the banks in 1837. It will continue to discharg, its liabilities to the people in gold and silles disbursements in coin will pass into circulation, and materially assist in restoring a sound currency From its h gh credit, should we be compelled to make a temporary loan, it can be effected on advantageous terms. This however, shall, if possible, be avoided; but if not, then the amount shall be limited to the lowest practicable sum

I have, therefore, determined that whilst no us ful government works already in progres suspended, new works, not already commenced will be postpaned, if this can be done without injury to the country. Those necessary for its defence shall proceed as though there had been no crisis in our monetary affairs

But the Federal Government cannot do much to provide against a recurrence of existing evils. Even if insurmountable constitutional objections did not exist against the creation of a National Bank, this would furnish no adequate preventive security. The history of the last Bank of the United States abundantly proves the truth of this assertion. Such a bank could clause, and substituted ir. its stead a simple renot, if it would, regulate the issue and credits comision of the sovereign right of flonduras t of fourteen hundred State Banks, in such a these islands in the following language. the currency must often be in direct conflic is, perhaps, fortunate that the question has with the immediate interests of its stockhold ers. If we expect one agent to restrain or con trol another, their interests must, at least in rejecting the treaty as amended, proposed to some degree, be antagonistic. But the directors of a Bank of the United States would feel the same interest and the same inclination with had just refused to ratify, if the United State the directors of the State Banks to expand the currency, to accommodate their favorites and friends with loans, and to declare large divi | Honduras over the Bay Islands the following dends. Such has been our experience in regard to the last bank.

Congress, in my opinion, possesses the power all banking institutions throughout the United This would make it the irreversable organic law of each bank's existence, that a suspension of specie payments shall produce its civil death -The instinct of self preservation would then. compel it to perform its duties in such a manner as escape the penalty and preserve its life.

question with Great Britain.

Since the origin of the government we have been employed in negotiating treaties with that power, and afterwards in discussing their true intont and meaning. In this respect, the convention of April 19, 1850, commenly called the Clayton and Bulwer Treaty, has been the most unpl ce directly opposite and contradictory constructions upon its first and most important article. Whilst, in the United States, we believe sels, provided they would reciprocate to us simthat this treaty would place both powers upon an ilar advantages. This act confined the recipexact equality by the slipplation that neither will ever "occupy, or fortify, or colonize, or assume or exercise any dominion" over any part of Central America, it is contended by the British government that the true construction of this language has left them in the rightful possession of all that portion of Central America which was in their the treaty is a virtual recognition on the part of the United States of the right of Great Britain, with France: and let us hope that this exception either as owner or protector, to the whole exten-sive coast of Central America, sweeping round San Juan de Nicaragua, together with the adjacent Bay Islands, except the comparatively small portion of this between the Sarstoon and Cape tionduras. According to their construction, the equal within a very small fraction to one dollar treaty had been considered susceptible of such a have received the approbation of the Senate. The universal conviction in the United States was hat when our government consented to violate its traditional and time honored policy, and to stipulate with a foreign government never to or cupy or acquire territory in the Central American portion of our continent, the consideration for his sacrifice was that Great Britain should, in this respect at least, be placed in the same posi-tion with ourselves. Whilst we have no right to doubt the sincerity of the British government in heir construction of the treaty, it is at the same ime my deliberate conviction that this coust ucion is in opposition both to i sletter and its spirit were instituted between the, two Governments for the purpose, if possible, of removing these difficulties; and a treaty having this laudable bject in view was signed at London on the 17th October, 1856, and was submitted by the President to the Senate on the following 10th birth to new and embarrassing complications don for ratification by the British Government Senate with the single exception of the clause relating to Rustan and the other islands of the Bay of Hondaras. The article in the original that these islands and their inhabitarts "hav day of August, 1856, between her Britannic tuted and declared a free territory, under the sovereignty of the said Republic of Honduras, stipulated that the two contracting parties do hereby mutually engage to recognize and respect in all future time the independence and ights of the said free territory as a part of the Republic of Honduras.

Upon an examination of this convention be twien Great Brit an and Honduras of the 27th of August, 1856, it was found that, whilst declar ng Ray Islands to be 'a free territory under the sovereignty of the republic of Honduras," it deprived that republic of rights without which its sov-reignty over them could scarcely be said to It divided them from the renainder of Hondures, and gave to their inhabitant, a separate government of their own, with legislative executive, and judicial officers, cheted by them selves. It deprived the government of Hondur. of the taxing power in every form, and exempted the people of the islands from the performance of military duty except for their own exclusive defence It also prohibited that republic from erecting fortifications upon them for their protection thus leaving them open to invasion from any quarter; and, finally, it provided, "that slavery shall not at any time hereafter be permuted to

Had Honduras ratified this convention sh world have ratified the establishment of a State substantially independent within her own limits and a State at all times subject to British influ ence and control. Moreover, had the Unite States ratified the treaty with Great Britain in its original form, we should have been bound "to re-codnize and respect in all future time" these stipulations to the prejudice of Honduras. Being i direct opposition to the spirit and meaning of the Clayton and Bulwer treaty as understood in the United States the senate rejected the entire coast of the Republic of Honduras, as under the sovereignty and as part of the said Republic of originating with the fathers of the republic, has been improved, as experience pointed the way, and gradually adapted to the growth and settlement of our Western States and Territories. It has worked well in practice Already thirteen States and seven Territories have been c rved out of these lands, and still more than a thousand millions of acres remain unsold. What a boundless prospect this presents to our country of future prosperity and power! We have heretofore disposed of 363,862,464 acres of the public land.

The report of the Secretary of the Interior is worthy of grave consideration. It treats of the numerous, important, and diversified branches of domestic administration entrusted to him by law Among these the most prominent are the public lands and our relations with the Indians
Our system for the disposal of the public lands,

Whilst the public lands as a source of revenue are of great importance, their importance is far greater as furnishing homes for a hardy and independent race of honest and industrious citizens, who desire to subdue and cultivate the soil. They ought to be administered mainly with a view of promoting this wise and be nevolent policy. In appropriating them for any other purpose, we ought to use even greater economy than if they had been converted into money and the proceeds were already in the public treasury. To squander away this richest and noblest inheritance which any peo ple have ever enjoyed upon objects of doubtful constitutionality or expediency, would be to violate one of the most important trusts ever committed to any people. Whilst I do not deny to Congress the power, when acting bona fide as a proprieter, to give away portions of them for the purpose of increasvalue of the remainder, yet, considering the great temptation to abuse this power, we can not be too cautious in its exercise. Actual settlers under exis ing laws are protect ed against other purchasers at the public sales, in their right of pro-emption, to the extent of a quarter-section, or 160 acres of land. The remainder may then be disposed of at public, or enspeculation has of late years prevailed to a great-extent in the public lands. The consequence has been that large potitions of them have become the property of individuals and companies, and thus the price is greatly enhanced to those who desire to purchase for actual settlement. In order to limit the area of speculation as much as possible, the extinc-tion of the Indian title and the extension of the pub-lic surveys ought only to keep pace with the tide of emigration.

If Coingress should hereafter grant alternate sections to States or companies, as they have done heretofore, I recommend that the intermediate sections retained by the government should be subject to preemption by actual settlers. It ought ever to be our cardinal policy to receive generations.

The extension of our limits has brought within our The extension of our limits has brought within our jurisdiction many additional and populous tribes of Indiana, a large proportion of which are wild, untractable, and difficult to control. Pedatory and warlike in their disposition and habits, it is impossible altogether to restrain them from committing aggressions on each other as well as upon our frontier citizens and those emigrating to our distant States and fertitories. Hence expensive mulitary expeditions are frequently necessary to overawe and clastige the more lawless and hostile.

The present system of making them valuable presents to influence them to remain at peace has preved ineflectival. It is believed to be the better policy to colonize them in suitable localities, where they can receive the rudiments of education and be gradually.

The whole number of Indians within our territo The whole number of Indians within our territorial limits is believed to be, from the best data in the interior department, about 325,000.

The tribes of Cherokees. Choctaws, Chickasaws and Creaks sattled in the ferritory set spurt for them west. The tribes of Cherokees. Chootaws, Chickasaws and Creeks settled in the ferritory set apart for them west of Arkansus, are rapidly advancing in education and air he arts of civilization and self government; and we may indulge the agreeable antiopation that at no very distant day they will be incorporated into the Union as one of the sovereign States.

It will be seen from the report of the Postmuster General that the Post Office Department still continues to the Treatment of the Post of the Po

General that the Post Office Department still continues to depend on the Treasury as it has been compelled to do for several years past, for an important portion of the means of sustaining and extending its operations. Their rapid growth and expansion are shown by a decennist statement of the number of post offices, and the length of post-roads, commencing with the year 1827. In that year there were 7,000 post-offices, in 1837, 11,177; in 1847, 15,146; in 1837 they number 26,586 In this year 1,725 just-offices have been established and 704 discontinued, leaving a net increase of 1021. The postmetres of

The expenditures of the department for the fiscal year-ending on the 39th June. 1857. as adjusted by the Auditor, amounted to $11.577.670. It of defray these expenditures, there was to the credit of the department on the 1st July, 1856, the sum of $789,599; the gross revenue of the year, including the annual allowances for the transportation of free mail matter, producid $8,053.591; and the remainder was supplied by the appropriation from the trea-ury of $2,250,000, granted by the act of Cougress approved August 18, 1856, and by the appropriation of $666.83 made by the next of March 3, 1857, leaving $252,763 to be carried to the credit of the department in the accounts of the current year. I commend to your consideration the report of the department in relation to the satablishment of the overland mail route from the more, in my judgment, best calculated to attain the important objects contemplated by Congress.

The lath dreatynes monetary westers.

'Au overflowing treasury has led to habits of prodigality and extravagance in our legislation. It has induced Congress to make large appropriations to objects for which they never would have provided lis, the Peru & Ind had it been necessary to rase the amount of revenue required to meet them by increased taxation or by loans. We are now compelled to pause in our career and to scrutinize our expenditures with the utmost vigilance, and in performing this duty I pledge my co-operation to the extent of my constitutional competency.

public economy does not consist in withholding the means necessary to accomplish important national objects intrusted to us by the constitution, and especially such as may be necessary for the common defence. In the present crisis of the constry it is our duty to confine our appropriations to objects of this character, unless in cases where justice to individuals may demand a different course. In all cases care ought to be taken that the money granted by Congress shall be faithfully and economically applied.

Under the federal constitution, "every bill which shall have passed the House of Representative and the Senate shall, before it becomes a law," be approved and signed by the President; and, if not approved "he shall return it with his objections to that House in which it originated." In order to perform this high and responsible duty, sufficient time must be allowed the President to read and examine every bill presented to him for approval. Unless this be afbe anowed the resident to read and examine every bill presented to him for approval. Unless this be afforded, the constitution becomes a dead letter in this particular; and even worse, it becomes a means of deception. Our constituents, seeing the President's approval and signature attached to each act of Congress, are induced to believe that he has actually performed this duty, when, in truth, nothing is, in many cases, more unfounded.

From the practice of Congress, such an examination of each bill as the constitution requirer, has been rendered impossible. The most important business of each session is generally crowded into its last bours, and the alternative presented to the President is either to violate the constitutional duty which he owes to the people, and approve bills which, for want of time, it is impossible he should have examined, or, by his refusal to do this, subject the country and individuals to great loss and inconvenience.

Besides, a practice has grown up of late years to Irom this rule. A therefore respectfully, but earnestly, recommend that the two louses would allow the President at least two days previous to the adjournment of each session within which no new bill shall be presented to him for approval. Under the existing joint rule one day is allowed; but this rule has been hitherfo so constantly suspended in practice, that important bills continue to be presented to him up till the very last moments of the session. In a large majority of cares no grest public inconvenience can arise from the want of time to examine their provisions, because the constitution has declared that if a bill be presented to the President within the last ten days of the session he is not required to return it, either with an approval or with a veto "in which case, it shall not be a law." It may then lie over, and betaken up and passed at the next session. Great inconvenience would only be experienced in regard to appropriation bills; but fortunately under the late excellent law allowing a salary, instead of a per diem, to members of Congress, the expense and inconvenience of a called session will be greatly reduced.

PROSPECTUS

Thirty-Seventh Volume

THE JOURNAL IS NOW ENTERING ITS THIRTY-SEVENTH VOLUME. It was established in 1822, and is the oldest paper in Indiana. It is equal in age to the City of Indianapolis, and is nearly as old as our State Government. It was established when Indiana was little else than a wilderness, and when Indianapolis scarcely existed except in name. It has lived and grown upon its own merits-seldom receiving official patronage or governmental favors. Its name is as a "household word" throughout the length and breadth of the State, and its position upon all public matters-political or otherwise -- is so well known that aus thing said in reference to its course upon any of the questions now before the people would be superfluous. While the JOURNAL will continue to advocate the great principles of free lom, and give its support to tritious preparation, free from corrosive ingredients, the Republican Party, as the party of the peopleacting with the party when right, and repudiating it when wrong -it will be for the coming year more of a family paper than it has ever yet been, and be made more acceptable to the general reader than a purely polit cal paper could be The Session of Congress under a new Administra tion is always fraught with more or less importance to the welfare of the country, and the present Session will be looked upon with feelings of peculiar interest. The position of the Administration upon Kancas affairs is a matter of much public concern .-The Utah question, and the progress of the anticipated war in that quarter, will be a subject of great public interest as long as it remains unsettled .-Events are transpiring in our own country and sable to every individual.

Blood purifier & blood pills DISEASE VANQUISHED

By Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Remedies.

A FTER years of study and experiment, Dr. Roback, the eminent Swedish Physician, succeeded in producing a medicine from twenty-thre different species of mountain herbs of his natival land, which acts directly upon the causes of diseas in the blood, and by restoring the corrupted fountain of life to a condition of health and purity, expels disease from the system, wherever it may be located, or whatever may be its character-Indigection, nervous complaints, epileptic and other fits, coughs, consumption in its early stages, sore throat, bronchitis, fever and agurasthma, low spirits, sexual incapacity, femium weakness, pricking of the skin, symptomatic oparalysis, rheumatism, neuralgia, tumor, cancer, diabetes, lassitude and debility, diarrhes, and all disorders of the organs of respiration, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the nerves, or the muscular fibre, are unerringly cured by this preparation. It is to the MATERIES MODEL, or seeds of disease what an alkali is to an acid; it neutralizes them with ABSULUTE CERTAINTY, while at the same time it regulates the secretions, removes obstructions from the bow-By Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Remedies.

the secretions, removes obstructions from the bow-els, creates appetite, renews bodily vigor, and regen-erates every animal function. Such is the nature-such are the effects of Dr. Roback's famous Scandi-navian Blood Purifier, which, if taken in conjunc-tion with his Scandinavian Blood Pills, will not only obliterate the most painful disease, but prevent their recurrence, and lengthen life beyond its or-dinary span. dinary spau.
In the SCANDINAVIAN VEGETABLE BLOOD

PERU, Miami Co , Ind., Aug. 4, 1857. the names of 'LEA & PERRINS' are impressed upon the Bottle and Stopper, and printed upon the labeis.

Dr C. W. Roback: I have received so much benefit from your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills, that I have thought it my duty, and it is no less my inclination, to give you a plain statement of my case. I was for years afflicted with that bane of all comfort, and efficiency in business, dyspepsia. To recapitulate all the so-called remedies which I have used to rid myself of this disease, would indeed make a melancholy catalogue. I also consulted with the best physicians I could hear of. I was induced to try your remedies through the persuasions of a friend, and after using them a few days was greatly benefitted, and in a short time.

persuasions of a friend, and after using them a few days was greatly benefitted, and in a short time, less than a month, I was entirely and permanently cured. I was also afflicted with the most violent nervous headache, which I suppose was produced by my disordered stomach, for when my dyspeptia left me, my headache left with it. I now keep ter in every respect than I have truly well.

From the Maisert Chaple:

Dr. C. W. Read Production, from which I have suffered much at times. While it is pleasant to the taste, it certainly has a happy effect upon the nerves. Please accept my thanks for your kind regards and acts, and believe me, Yours, J. W. T. McMULLEN.

CINCINNATI, Friday, Sept. 4 1857.

Yours,

CINCINATI, Friday, Sept. 4 1857.

Dr. Roback—Dear Sir: Having been afflicted with neuralgia or rheumatism for the past year and a half, and having seen your medicine, called the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, highly recommended by gentlemen with whom I am acquainted, I was induced to try it, but not before I had used various other medicines. After using two bottles, I felt its effect very sensibly, and upon using two more, I found myself perfectly cured. You will allow me, therefore, to congraviate you, upon making a discovery in medicine which is proving itself to be a worker of such wonders in the diseases of the human family.

Besides, a practice has grown up of late years to legislate in appropriation bills, at the last hours of the session, on new and important subjects. This practice constrains the l'resident either to suffer measures to become laws which he does not approve, or to incur the rick of stopping the wheels of government by vetoing an appropriation bill. Formerly, such bills were confined to specific appropriations for carying into effect existing laws and the well established policy of the country, and little time was then required by the President for their examination.

For my own part I have deliberately determined that I shall approve no bill which I have not examined, and it will be a case of extreme and most urgent necessity which shall ever induce me to depart from this rule. I therefore respectfully, but earnestly, recommend that the two houses would allow the President at least two days previous to the adjourn-
